-----START-----

Hi, daddy.

Oops! Did I scare you? I didn't mean to. [giggle]

I've been waiting here for a while, I mean. How long does it take to groceries?

What do you mean? I told you I'd be back.

I waited a few weeks cuz I was trying to be nice, daddy. I wanted your wife to get comfortable again. That whole earring thing kinda rattled her huh?

What?

I don't have to go anywhere, daddy. By the way... why did you change the locks?

[bratty accusatory] Well, then why didn't my key work, daddy?

Well, I had to go see the apartment manager. I know he has one for emergencies, so... I borrowed it.

Don't worry, he doesn't know I have it. [giggle]

Anyways, you know what I want, daddy. And since you tried to change the locks... I'm gonna make you pay for that.

Just put your groceries away. We don't want anything to spoil. I'm gonna call my boyfriend.

What...

Wow, you're a dirty bird... No he's not coming over here. It's not what you think. Just take care of the groceries and stop thinking daddy. You're really bad at it.

By the way... I think it's kinda pathetic that your wife makes all the money. And your daughter is working at a carwash? What do YOU do here at home all day anyway?

A musician? Working from home?

Sure daddy.

[to the phone] Oh, hey baby! It's me.

Yeah...

What are you doing right now?

You just got out of class, huh?

Well, I'm kinda feeling like... this might be the day, you know?

[leading] You know...

Yes, that! [giggle] Yeah, like right now.

I'll tell you what... why don't you meet me at my apartment?

You still have your key right?

Yeah. Meet me there in like... 5 minutes. And honey, if I'm not there yet, go ahead and go into my bedroom and wait there, okay?

Oh, I know you'll be gentle, honey. I'm really excited.

[giggle] Yeah! I promise it's going to happen this time. Okay! Yay! See you soon.

[off phone]

Are you finished with the groceries, daddy?

Well, hurry up, we need to get ready.

Daddy, do we have to go through this again? I'm not leaving.

Daddy... are you ... begging me?

[annoyed whine] I see that you're really upset daddy, but, I don't care. In fact, that's the whole point. Don't you get it, yet?

If you keep whining I'm just gonna keep pushing you.

Now do you want your wife to find out about us or not?

Then come on! We're going to your daughter's room.

Don't give me that, daddy. I told you last time what I was gonna do.

Now come here. Help me pick out one of your daughter's outfits.

[closet door opens]

Ooo, this one's cute. Mm... I think we can do better though.

Now come on with me.
